St. Anthony’s has an Eco-Commission!

Lifestyle

In “Laudato Si’ “ Pope Francis asks us to be in communion with nature as a whole. Looking at the cost in resources to bring meat to our table would probably surprise most of us. The web has many sources to check, like “the true environmental cost of eating meat”. Meatless Monday’s or any day of the week could help us reduce the high cost of our meat consumption. But, if you and your family are not quite ready to take meat out of your menu completely, let’s consider reducing the amount of meat in our recipes. Most recipes will still be flavorful if you cut back on the amount of meat. Increase the vegetables and side dishes. Your family will probably not even notice the lack of meat if you bring a basket of fresh baked rolls to the table. You can change their focus. In addition to eating healthier, your budget will thank you too! Great meals on a small budget—good for your family and our common home.

Mark you calendars—the Eco-Commission is hosting an event on Black Friday (November 27) beginning at 5:00p.m. with Mass and refreshments. More information will be available in next week’s bulletin.
