St. Anthony’s Eco-Commission

Sometimes I can’t sleep. One such night I was watching a deep thinker on television. I don’t remember his name, but I liked some of the things he said. He was talking about fear. We all have fears. They are different for the places we are in life. When you’re young you fear not fitting in with the crowd. It seems so important to be one of the popular groups. As you get older the fear could be not being successful in life. Making money and having the respect of others. When we are advanced in age our fears can be health concerns. Fear, it can be consuming. This deep thinker I was watching said that Fear is the cheapest room in the house. Move to a better location.
