The week’s featured Saint —
St. Blaise
Bishop - Fourth Century

We know that Blaise was a bishop in Armenia in 316 AD and was martyred there. The legendary Acts of St. Blaise were written 400 years later. According to them Blaise was a good bishop, working hard to encourage the spiritual and physical health of his people. Although the Edict of Toleration in 311 granted freedom of worship in the Roman Empire, persecution still raged in Armenia. Blaise was apparently forced to flee to the woods. There he lived as a hermit in solitude and prayer, but he made friends with the wild animals. Iconography pictures him as the St. Francis of the East surrounded by the animals he cared for. One day a group of hunters seeking wild animals for the amphitheater stumbled upon Blaise’s cave. They were first surprised and then frightened. The bishop was kneeling in prayer surrounded by patiently waiting wolves, lions and bears.

The legend has it that as the hunters hauled Blaise off to prison just as a mother came with her young son who had a fish bone lodged in his throat. At Blaise’s command the child was able to cough up the bone.

She later came with candles to bring light to his prison cell as a gesture of gratitude. The local governor tried to persuade Blaise to sacrifice to pagan idols. Blaise refused and gave up his life.

Things you can do about Climate change

Reduce and reuse before you recycle. How simple that sounds and it is. Try to do something creative with that broken or unneeded item. Maybe you can fix or paint it and find a new use, it will make you feel good to save something from the trash and you may even save some money. Remember the old saying: "Enough is as good as a feast!"
