This week’s featured Saint — Ss. Cyril and Methodius

9th century

Cyril and Methodius were brothers who became missionaries to the Slavic people living along the Danube River. Methodius had been the governor of a Slavic province controlled by the Byzantine empire before he was ordained a priest. Cyril was a scholar in Constantinople before he was ordained. In 860 they preached in the area between the Don and Volga rivers. On their return Methodius became the abbot of a monastery and Cyril took a teaching position. Then in 862 the ruler of the Slovakian people asked the Patriarch of Constantinople for a bishop who could teach his people in their own language. Cyril and Methodius translated the Gospels into Slavonic, using an alphabet and script they invented, now called Cyrillic. Germanic bishops, however, refused to allow them to use the vernacular language for the celebration of the liturgy, insisting that it remain in Latin. Cyril and Methodius appealed to Rome, but were not successful. They worked hard at uniting the Eastern and Western churches, but many areas in the East, favoring the use of the vernacular languages, aligned themselves with the Patriarch in Constantinople and established the Eastern Rite churches. Cyril died in Rome and Methodius returned to Slovakia where he finished translating the entire Bible into Slavonic.

Ordinary Things We Overlook

“Oh, we have so much to be thankful for - just the pure air to breath and the strength to breath it; just warmth and shelter, family and friends. Plain food that gives us strength, the bright sunshine on a cold day; and a cool breeze when the day is warm. We should think more about these things that we tend to overlook, and just say thank you.”

- Laura Ingalls Wilder
