This week’s featured Saint —
Venerable Edel Quinn
20th Century

Edel Quinn was born in Ireland in 1907. As a young worker she joined the Legion of Mary, a group of lay people who strove to share their faith in their own neighborhoods as missionaries of service and witnesses of faith. Edel got involved with befriending, rescuing and rehabilitating prostitutes. She was attracted to religious life, but was deemed too sickly. She suffered from tuberculosis. But in 1936 some of the Legionnaires got involved in Africa and invited her along.

In Nairobi, Kenya the church was clearly divided between the Europeans and the native Africans. Edel organized groups throughout the city to bring these groups together in worship and prayer.

Her joyful spirit and infectious faith animated the local churches. One bishop claimed that within a year the atmosphere of his diocese changed because of her efforts, because of her very presence.

Her health once again deteriorated by 1938, but she refused to leave Africa. She died in 1944 at the age of 36.

This is the last of our Saint Reflections until the series resumes again in the Fall.
